NEW RALLY TALENT PARADE BEGINS TOMORROW

DELMA ANNOUNCES NEW CONTEST SERIES

There is a call to arms for talented students. Can you sing, dance, play an instrument, or give impersonations? Any talent you may have will place you among the contestants of the approaching Rally Talent Parades. Consult Hal Delma, general manager of the rally talent parades, through Box 770, for any further information concerning possibilities of entering the contests.

RALLIES ARE ENTERTAINING

The purpose of the rallies is to provide entertainment and, at the same time, encourage students to take part in varied and lively programs. The last series of rallies was undoubtedly a great success. This first triumph should pave the way for a much greater success in the succeeding rally series.

The series will commence Friday noon, October 29. It will continue to the end of the present semester and terminate with a final Rally Talent Parade. Faculty members will be present to select the two winning contestants from each rally. Each of the three winning contestants of the final rally will be presented with a silver cup trophy, donated by Jenkel Jewelers of 150 Post Street.

FOUR CONTESTANTS FRIDAY

Four contestants will be presented at Friday's initial rally. Dorothy McGuinness will sing and dance, Bob Sweeny will render a vocal solo, and Mary Jane May will present a dance number. George Dorris, an outside entertainer, will give a combination of singing and guitar playing. He is a well known night club headliner.

Open Road Dinner

Dr. Treutlein will speak at the Open Road Dinner Wednesday evening, November 3, at 6 o'clock, at Venetos restaurant. Alice Mitchell, Elaine Twomey, and Janet Graham are in charge of the affair. The price will be 50 cents, and all members are urged to sign up immediately on the sign which is now posted in the Co-op.

A.W.S. MASS MEETING

By CAROL CROUCH

There's a long long trail a winding, and it's a trail of girls a winding into the gymnasium for the A.W.S. Mass Meeting this evening, October 28. Lois Arentz, chairman of the Mass Meeting, and her right hand gal, Peggy Clifford, have planned all kinds of things to entertain these fun-bent lassies during the evening. There will be tap dancing by that gorgeously graceful gob of ginger, Georgette Yebby, and strutting by our tantalizing, twinkling-toed tripper, Frances Twohig.

Singing in the swing style will be offered by the naughtily neoterical nightingale, Helen Newell, and more singing will be by the cheerfully captivating chirper, Helen Louise Cox. And (hold your hats)

CONTEST FINALISTS AND I. R. C. DELEGATES

OUTSTANDING STATERS ALL

International Relations Club Holds Peace Convention At Mills College

International Relations Clubs from all parts of Northern California and Nevada will be represented at a two-day conference at Mills College tomorrow and Saturday. The conference is an annual one held by invitation of Mills College in cooperation with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in New York. Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, Division Assistant of the Endowment, will be head of the committee working toward the success of the affair, and will be assisted by Dean Rusk, head of the Mills College Hostess Club.

San Francisco State delegates to the convention are Bessie Hall, present president of the State College International Relations Club, Marjorie Graham, Virginia Wherle, Helen Williams, Patricio Megino, Mr. Olam, Mary Chu, and Charles Rich. The delegation will be housed at Mills College.

Among the principal speakers will be Major C. Douglass Booth, lecturer and publicist of Canada, whose topic will be "The British Commonwealth Foreign Policy." Also on the program will be Miss Jones, who will speak as the Endowment's representative at the assembly.

The main portion of the convention will be spent in a round table symposium, with Friday evening closing in a dinner-dance. The delegation will conclude their stay in Berkeley with a luncheon Saturday noon, at which time a Carnegie speaker will present the subject "Far Eastern Affairs".

SACRAMENTO TICKET SALES EXTENDED TO NOV. 2 BY BUD DECKER

SENIORS CELEBRATE BY HALLOWEEN PARTY

In the midst of the traditional orange and gold Hallowe'en decorations, the High Senior class will celebrate the passing of the month of October at their annual class party to be held tomorrow evening, October 29, at 8:00 o'clock in the Activities Room.

The final plans just completed for the party by the various committees are comprised so as to give an entire evening of novel entertainment, according to reports from Helene Rowan, class president, and Edythe Stoner, general chairman of the affair.

DIME CHARGED

The only charge for the party will be ten cents to help defray the expenses and to provide for the expenses. A prize will be awarded to the most novel costume worn at the party. Costuming is optional for visitors.

Edythe Stoner, general chairman, has appointed the following committees: Invitations, Pearl Jones, Rita Johnson, Evelyn Harris; Refreshments, Jennie Buffa, Betty Lonkey, Edna Robrecht; Decorations, Dorothy Fryman, Entertainment, Lucian Morrisson, Barbara Davis; Doormen, Bill Graziana, Rexford Clark.

Regarding this affair, Edythe Stoner, general chairman, said, "As this is one of the major functions to be held by the Senior Class this year, I urge all members of the class to attend."

Committee Arranges Rally, Parade, Dance and Other Entertainment

Final date for sale of excursion tickets to Sacramento on Friday, November 5, for State's football game with Sacramento Junior College, has been extended to Tuesday, November 2. Although the necessary quota has almost been reached, the date has been extended to accommodate those students who receive salaries on the first of the month. Arrangements have been made for 300 San Franciscans.

CHRONICLE CONTEST CLOSES

The contest, sponsored by the San Francisco Chronicle, which offers a free ticket for each six months' Chronicle subscription contract, will definitely close tomorrow. Subscription blanks may be obtained today or tomorrow at the special ticket booth in College Hall and may be submitted to Harold Martin, publicity director of San Francisco State, to Bud Decker, general chairman in charge of the excursion trip, or to the ticket booth.

Hal Delma, Vernon Rees, Audrey Stewart, Frances Twohig, and Vern Oulette, assistants to Decker on the general committee, have arranged for a varied program for entertainment on the train trip.

PARADE IN SACRAMENTO

Members participating in the excursion will leave San Francisco at 4 p.m. and on arrival in Sacramento will parade down the main street to a restaurant, placed at their exclusive disposal, accompanied by representatives from the Sacramento Junior College student body, led by their student body president, John Gowan, and by members of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

DEBATERS MEET J. C. TODAY

The first intercollegiate debate to be held on the San Francisco State campus in over a year will be presented this afternoon at 3:30 in the Activities Room. The debate, between the S. F. State varsity squad and the S. F. J. C. team, will be on the question, "Resolved, that the United States should maintain a strict neutrality policy." State is to defend the negative side of the question, having argued affirmatively in the debate on the Jaysee "campus" at Galileo High School last Tuesday afternoon.

In the opening date of the intercollegiate season, Bill Rose and Robert Sigerson won a unanimous decision over San Francisco Junior College Tuesday.

MEHINO, NELSON DEBATE

Representing State in the debate will be Patricio Mehino and Marianne Nelson, two newcomers to State debating. The jaysee squad as yet has not been determined.

MADRIGALS HOLD BANQUET

New honorary and associate members of Madrigals were chosen at the installation banquet and dance last week. The affair was given at Lake Merritt Hotel, and alumni and charter members of the last seven years were present as guests. Also many former members were there who have moved to Calistoga, Bakersfield and Shafter came to the city for the occasion. The banquet hall was decorated in purple and gold, and was lighted by candles. Gardenias were presented to women guests. New members had to present stunts for the entertainment of the others. The group sang several madrigals during the evening. Barbara Larsen was hostess of the ceremony.

HONORARY MEMBERS CHOSEN

The honorary members chosen are: Dr. W. Knuth, Mr. Ray Freeburg, Mr. R. White, and Mr. Sven Stribolt. Associate member is Mr. Kenneth Bailey.

The regular members are: Alfred Beseman and Willard Lincoln, tenmistic in nature, devised to send the team off with the pleasant knowledge that the whole college was behind them.

Right From The Shoulder

Now that the midpoint of the season has been passed, and the record of the team is admittedly poor, this spirit of zealous support has dropped to nil.

When things are rosy, it's easy for everyone to jump on the merry bandwagon and bask in the glory of a successful football team. Now there is no merriment, no glory, and the bandwagon is covered with cobwebs from being abandoned so long.

Because the team has dropped most of the games on its schedule this semester, this student body, which not so long ago was one hundred per cent behind the team, has started to circulate rumor, gossip, and insidious misinformation. Instead of handing the team and the coaching staff a pat on the back, trying to encourage them to greater effort, we hand them a stab in the back with undercurrents of slime and dirt.

No one, except those concerned, knows how many hours Hal and Dan and the boys spend in heart and backbreaking practice sessions trying to prepare themselves for the current game. Because circumstance relegates the fellows to the bottom shelf, should all that effort merely result in damnation?

It is only reasonable to expect that the reaction to a loss should be "well, you fellows lost. It's too bad, but even so, we're still behind you, and we're going to pull for you to win the next game."

That kind of support will get us a good team.

If the coaches would be addressed: "well, Dan and Hal, the team got royally licked. That isn't so good, but next time we'll take them!"

That sort of comment will make the coaches feel that at least someone appreciates their efforts. And that will spur them on. It will put them in the position that they can't turn down this maze of spirit.

By no stretch of the imagination can it be believed that a team and its coaches will turn in their best efforts knowing that the student body is against them.

Get behind these men and the fellows. Let them know that we are confident that sooner or later they will make us proud of them.

It's hard to do that. It's hard to have respect and spirit for a consistently losing team. But by this sort of good will and confidence we can stem the onrushing torrent of defeat, and still emerge proud parents of a good team.

Regardless of this season's record let's let the team know that we're plugging right along behind them, knowing that they are giving the best they have in them.

Midterm Schedule

proposal to schedule midterms much the same as finals.

This committee report hinted that after certain minor objections are overcome, the plan stands a good chance for faculty acceptance.

Thanks to the inter-departmental committee for the fine report.

If this plan is put into effect, students will not be forced to take several exams on the same day, and faculty members will not have to correct several sets of papers in short periods of time.

Of course it isn't the panacea it appears to be, and it may not work out in practice. But let's give it a chance, and try it as an experiment, if for no other reason, during the next midterms.

PARKING SPARKINGS

FREE PUBLICITY

PLACE FOR PENNIES

CANDLE FADES OUT

Off and on during the last two weeks we've noticed a few parking sparkings between Virginia Brandlein and Herb Vecchi . . . and twin-peeker Daniels plus Barbara Worden.

Item: about a week ago at the El Capitan Theatre a lad won five hundred dollars at beano or bank night or some such bait-game. Well, so far the story is simple enough . . . but when fresh-from-high-school Al Simon got up on the stage and was asked what he intended doing with the shekels . . . he struck a Merriwell pose and answered, "I'm going to State College with this." Which is better than the publicity department can do.

—Love and Kisses—

Walked into the book store the other day and was respectfully addressed by the pretty behind the counter . . . "Do you have two pennies?" . . . being my usual cordial self I dug down and produced the coppers for which she thanked me . . . sweetly.

Didn't think about it . . . until I roamed back and heard the same question put to six other unsuspecting males . . . asked what was the jik . . . "Lois Towle wants to go to Sacramento . . . this is the way." Gauge of the susceptibility of Staters: $1.41 in three and a half hours.

—Love and Kisses—

To end questioning: Romer Bowman is happily to Russell Roberts, a student at California.

—Love and Kisses—

Stuff from No. 859: "There's a new melody in Bill Stein's life called 'Just a Blue-Eyed Blonde'—but it has a bit of discord because the old melody haunts him still." Rather a pretty allegory . . . ?

—Love and Kisses—

"Why won't Bob Hodgins let Natalie go to football practice?" Does it really matter?

—Love and Kisses—

Now that the coaches have allotted each member of the football team five women . . . and the football team has allotted each coach something of a warmer nature . . . just what team, what coaches, and what women are they talking about?

—Love and Kisses—

Last week's calumny was, I think, the last sputter of the gutted candle . . . Guiney's faded grey matter has shriveled from the size of a mustard seed to its present sorry state . . . let's stop this unequal battle, Guiney . . . you don't want an inferiority complex thrust upon you, do you?

Ah sorrow, as I squirm here on this uncomfortable Pub Office chair and strive and struggle . . . and nothing comes to mind except that my dinner is getting cold . . . and only fools write columns . . . and the beauties of the meditative existence . . . and the editor bellows profanely that I better get that crud-sheet finished . . . and my heart is full of wrath and bitterness . . . dinner is colder with each wretched word . . . and when you ungrateful plebeian souls skim over this, my soul's essence . . . you'll snicker and smirk and mockingly observe that it's a bunch of rot . . . and you'll be right . . . so if this doesn't fill the page . . . they may bloody well stuff it.

LOVE — — SO WHAT?

By ROSEMARY ALEXANDER

Yes, I am quite aware of the Facts of Life. I have taken several courses in the "Fundamentals of Biology." I have a fairly good understanding of the physical attraction of women for man and vice versa, but still I don't see any necessity for the condition upon which I am about to launch a declaration.

Why, will some one please enlighten a poor ignorant soul, do the big, he-men of the college have to make love to their short skirted, bare-legged gal friends all over State's campus? I'm not asking why they make love, my naiveute does not go that far; what I am asking is this: What is romantic about holding hands, or indulging in other more intimate expressions of affection, in front of half the student body in broad day light, surrounded by the dreary walls of good old State?

I should imagine that to anyone with the least sensitivity the brisk, matter of factness of a campus would act as a damper on romantic ardor, but such is not the case, and as time passes, the observer manages to replace disgust with disinterest toward those sweet little morons who pass out their caresses with such happy abandon.

Do I hear vague mutterings of "Sour grapes?" "No one to love her," etc.? Oh, well, even in a free country, one must pay for the privilege of press freedom. At any rate, I have said my say, and the big he-men and the short-skirted gal friends will proceed with their Biology lessons as enthusiastically as ever in spite of this burning declaration.

PERSONALITY

Say, who the dickens is this gal we're always hearing about who seems to be so tangled up with that Blum fellow? It looks as if journalists as well as gentlemen prefer blondes because this is another one. Very different from the others though. Lois Towle is what most people agree upon as pretty. Not dramatically beautiful, but the kind of girl Ziegfeld went to work and glorified for us—perfectly normal. She isn't too tall or too short, too fat or too thin. Her eyes aren't too small or too large, too close or too far set. None of her features are too anything, in fact. She is active in sports without being muscle-bound, and is well liked by everyone without being aggressive. She dances well but not well enough to make a career of it. Her interests are broad, and not centered on any one subject. She has few, if any, idiosyncrasies. Her clothes are attractive and toptotch in style, but never faddish or extreme. We could go on like this indefinitely and we would find her always the same—Average Modern American Girl No. 1.

KINNIBER SAUCE

In her weekly discussions on current events, Mrs. Cowell is offering us an opportunity we cannot afford to miss. They are given every Monday from four till five. In this way we can keep up with passing events—a feat too great for most of us.

Here's College Humor's poem about cream puffs, candy, and such things:

"In your mouth a few minutes.
In your stomach a few hours.
And on your hips the rest of your life."

Here's one Muriel Senk told us: Papa Bull and Mama Bull couldn't find Baby Bull one day. They looked and looked and looked. Finally they did see him way over on a distant hill-top. Said Mama Bull to Papa Bull: "How in the world did Baby Bull get way up there?" "Well," said Papa Bull to Mama Bull, "You know a little bull goes a long long ways."

Hi-Ho.

No more blondes. We promise.

A. C. P. NEWS

College training is of little use to a railroader, according to Union Pacific officials. It makes it harder for him to endure the monotonous detail he will find in railroading.

Add new ways of gate-crashing: Sophomores at Purdue rode down the Union dumbwaiter in order to gain admittance to the freshman mixer in the Union ballroom. And then were ejected!

Students dancing to swing music—1200 of them—generate enough heat to warm a two-story house for two days in ordinary winter weather. Enough energy is released to raise a five-ton elephant 32 miles in the air. So sayeth an engineer at the University of Wisconsin.

The tough lieutenant was addressing his men after the first long grind around the parade ground. "All those who feel unable to march around again step forward."

All the lads except one freshie stepped ahead. The "looie" looked at him and commented, "Well, I'm glad I have one man that likes to march."

"Say, lieutenant, I'm so plum tuckered I can't even take that step forward," came the weak voice from the rear.

SHE'LL SEE GAME

Lois Towle wanted to go to Sacramento to the game. She didn't have the funds. So what did she do about it? This enterprising young lady put a box down in the Co-op with a sign stating boldly her shameful condition, and asking the assistance of the student body. One day later she opened up this little box and counted the copper discs. Well, she had two hundred and one of them and was going strong. What a racket! What price school spirit!

W. A. A. PLAYDAY HAS DIXIE THEME

W. A. A. is holding its semester High-School Playday on November 13, Saturday, from eight a. m. until three p. m. All bay area high schools are invited to participate in this playday. The theme of this semester is Dixie Land, and this idea is being carried out in the invitations, programs, decorations, favors, and entertainment.

Basketball, baseball, kickball, and volley ball have been organized to fill the day, and one hour is to be devoted to progressive games. Luncheon will be served at Frederic Burk midst the mummies and the watermelons for 25 cents. All State girls who are staying for lunch are requested to sign up in the gym before Saturday in order that accommodations can be made.

TIME OUT

By Tom Thorpe
Sports Editor

ONCE AGAIN . . .

Regarding my printing of an anonymous letter, in which it was stated that the State varsity was a bunch of "gutless wonders", I find that my most esteemed colleague, Ed Smith, has taken it upon himself to revive an issue which, in my opinion, should have been taken with a grain of salt and forgotten about . . . Smith's comments concerning the "anonymous" in his last column is undoubtedly very questionable in taste . . . Looking at the situation in a mature light we could come to these conclusions: (1) because the letter was about the football team, it would be logical to assume it was written by a man, (2) whoever wrote the letter seemed to know what he was talking about, because to my knowledge, no effort was made on the part of those players mentioned in the letter to deny the accusations, (3) because the person responsible for this little epistle didn't sign his name is no reason why an embryonic journalist should, through the medium of his column, hurl insults at him, (4) sometimes "Discretion is the better part of valor"; maybe the letter was written by Dr. Roberts, or the Coaches, or Mr. Nee or even one of the players . . . Cases like these are bound to come up and should be taken for what they're worth at that moment, and not made issues out of in order that an aspiring columnist can derive some self-satisfaction by ripping off adolescent sentences on a poor, defenseless typewriter . . .

OH ME!! . . .

Boy, it's a great life! . . . If you say something you're a Communist; if you don't you're a moron; if you attempt to do something you're a troublemaker and if you don't you're a slacker! . . . How well can a person pound out an interesting and readable column when he is expected to please everybody from Dr. Roberts down to Timothy O'Shea? . . . Who made the crack about "Freedom of the Press"? . . . Ha, ha!

AN IDEA . . .

Judging from the demonstration put on by the grandstand at the Santa Rosa game, wouldn't it be a good idea to have the players sit on the field and watch the bleachers?

COMES IT NOW . . .

As most of you, directly or indirectly concerned with athletics at State, are aware, rumors are floating around to the effect that State needs a new coach . . . It is not the purpose of your correspondent to prognosticate the outcome of these said rumors . . . Might I suggest that a complete investigation of the situation be made before anybody goes off half-cocked and attempts to re-arrange the Physical Education dept . . . Having talked with various members of the team, some fellows in the Block "S", Dan Farmer and Hal Harden I find that there is more to the story than meets the eye . . .

Junior Varsity Drops Second Grid Classic

Capitalizing on two errors, chargeable to inexperience, the Commerce High Reserves defeated State's Junior Varsity last Friday on Roberts Field by a score of 14-7. Led by tricky Wilbur Bartlett, the Bulldogs made their first score when the aforementioned Wilbur snatched a thirty-yard pass in the middle of State's secondary and raced over the goal line for a net gain of sixty yards and six points. Commerce then converted through the medium of a pass. The second tally came in the third quarter when Bartlett tore loose around right end forty-five yards to make it 13-0. Commerce again converted.

With but eight minutes remaining, Tom Thorpe, Gater halfback, intercepted a Bullpup pass and ran 45 yards for the Jayvee's one and only score. The quarterback sneak was pulled out of the mowhalls and worked perfectly in adding the extra point for the Junior Staters.

Following is the line-up which started the hostilities last Friday afternoon: Madigan, le; Blum, lt; Buckley, lg; Anderson, c; Higgins, rg; Og, rt; Button, re; Marks, q; Mattison, rh; Robey, f, and Thorpe, lh.

Thorpe's interception was the first score of the year for the Jayvees and added a rosy tint to an otherwise drab afternoon. Bob Cummings, capable center for the Gaters, is on the bench because of injuries sustained in practice.

Plans for a game tomorrow afternoon at Roberts Field have been almost completed. The final details will be revealed before the game.

Intramural Play Continues

With Division I teams inactive for the balance of the week, the intramural football race takes on the unimportant appearance as the Ramblers meet the Remains in today's game and the Golden Gaters' twice beaten gridders facing a weak Has-Been squad.

The league play has decreased in interest, because of the failure of team managers to get their elevens together on days that they are supposed to play. There have been an exceedingly large number of defaults and postponed contests simply because the contestants have failed to show up for their scheduled games.

After tomorrow's games the league play will have reached the halfway mark. From past performances the two best teams are both in Division I; the Block "S" and Rover Boys, both undefeated, will probably be obliged to replay their early-season tie to determine the winner in this division. Divisions II and III have had too many defaults in their leagues. Managers have been and will continue to be notified a day before their teams are to battle, and they are expected to have at least eight men on the field by game time.

DEAN DAVID J. COX, COACH

CASUAL COMMENTS CONCERNING COX High Spots of Coach's Life LOVES MUSIC, DRAMA; PLAYS HARMONICA

By TOM THORPE

Last week I walked briskly into the office of Dean Cox, planted myself firmly in a chair and let loose with a barrage of questions in the general direction of the beaming countenance you see above this article. Last week I walked not so briskly out of the office of Coach Cox (yes, he's a coach as well as a Dean), planted myself firmly in a chair and began the arduous task of deciphering the jumbled assortment of information which I had gotten. The result of my efforts follow.

David J. Cox was born in the United States. That in itself is typical of the definite answers one gets from this impenetrable personage. Maybe D. J. was born in Maine or Vermont, and being a Democrat, hesitated to admit it. One must be thankful, I suppose, that he even narrowed his birthplace down to such a fine point. He could have said he was born in the world, which would have complicated matters even further. Questioned concerning his educational career, I received an answer something like this, "I attended Brigham Young University; Utah State; California; Stanford and three or four others." That crack about the "three or four others" finished me on the subject of education. Getting into the finer things in life I found out that our Dean likes all types of music, is partial to the violin and piano and, believe it or not, can rattle off a mean tune on the harmonica. From now on I shall work unceasingly in an effort to get Cox to play his mouth organ for a rally. Imagine the Mentor topping off one of his "fiery" pep talks with a harmonica solo, entitled: "It All Depends On You!"

Aside from being a lover of music and drama, Coach Cox's main interest is athletics. His disciplinary attitude, (forcefully displayed in the P. E. 80A and B courses) is a result, no doubt, of his military training. When Uncle Sam shouldered arms and marched into the Great Struggle around 1917, Cox volunteered and during this era worked himself up to the rank of Captain. He joined the infantry and learned how to make effective use of a machine-gun. The two incidences which stand out in his memory are, according to him, "the day I enlisted and the day I was discharged." What, no A. W. O. L. offenses?

Dean Cox is married and has a boy in junior high school. What spare time he has is devoted to a little ranch upon which he does all the manual labor. Smoking is something he doesn't do, as is drinking, unless it is on a social basis, and he is not backward about coming forward when he says, "Throwing the bull is another one of my pet hobbies." When I asked him for a little message which I could pass on to you, he said: "There is no success so great as the failure which inspires to greater things. I hope the student body will take our defeat at the hands of the California Legislature, (referring to the building campaign) as a failure which will prod them on to battle for a real building program at the College."

So to you, David J. Cox, who has done so much for S. F. State College, we say, "By the Gods, you're O. K.!"

The two incidences which stand out in his memory are, according to him, "the day I enlisted and the day I was discharged." What, no A. W. O. L. offenses?

Dean Cox is married and has a boy in junior high school. What spare time he has is devoted to a little ranch upon which he does all the manual labor. Smoking is something he doesn't do, as is drinking, unless it is on a social basis, and he is not backward about coming forward when he says, "Throwing the bull is another one of my pet hobbies." When I asked him for a little message which I could pass on to you, he said: "There is no success so great as the failure which inspires to greater things. I hope the student body will take our defeat at the hands of the California Legislature, (referring to the building campaign) as a failure which will prod them on to battle for a real building program at the College."

So to you, David J. Cox, who has done so much for S. F. State College, we say, "By the Gods, you're O. K.!"

Gaters To Collide With Cal Poly; Line Must Have Charge Or Golden Tide Cause Lost

Offensive Thrusts of Gaters May Offset Polytechnic Defense; Punting To Feature Both Attacks

Casabans Play Navy In First Tussle Today

By PHIL SCHMIDT

Tomorrow eve will see our hilltop eleven some two hundred miles down the coast in the quaint little town of San Luis Obispo where they will engage in a gridiron struggle with the California Polytechnic Institute.

Possessing a powerful running attack and smarting from a fluke defeat at the hands of Humboldt State College, the Cal. Poly boys are itching to pour out their revenge on the Gater. Unless the Purple and Gold line charges and the team shows a better brand of defensive ball the State cause is lost.

The only real defensive work shown by the Gaters so far this season has been the smashing tackles of both Red Thompson and Dick Osborne, the latter now benched because of injuries. Flashes of brilliance among the other players is also discernible as in the case of Frank Jackson, stalwart end, and Art Jarl, tackle, who seem unstoppable at times, only to bog down after a few plays. Should the entire team have that same "fighting heart" tomorrow nite the Golden Tide would be well nigh unbeatable and undoubtedly send the pigskinners of San Louie to their doom.

Though State's offense needs polishing up, it is the one redeeming feature of the eleven. Coupling the magnificent punting of Harkness with the running ability of Al Gomez gives State offensive power. With such men as Thompson, Iago, Chandler and Keinhofner, State's grid-machine can become a thing hard to beat, providing the line men are in there co-operating to the fullest extent.

Kicking will be about even as the Polytechnic lads averaged around forty yards in their last game. The Obispo boys boast a heavier line and should have a distinct advantage over the Purple and Gold in the defensive department, although the speed and deception of the Tide may offset this advantage and make the game a thriller from start to finish. Captain Hal Beseman's trick knee may keep him from the affray, and his absence, plus the absence of Runar Stone, who was forced to quit because of unavoidable circumstances, will greatly hinder the Gater's chances, as will the loss of Osborne.

In all probability the starting line-up will be: Jackson and Bloom at ends; Beseman and Hanrahan at tackles; Kauer and Glavich playing guards; Daniels at center and Harkness, Gomez, Thompson and Iago in the backfield.

Despite all the if, ands and buts, Cal. Poly will be the favorite and a victory for State would mean the upsetting of the proverbial dope bucket.

... Headline: Teamplay Marred By Too Much Growling, Hollering In Huddles . . . Hm, how many quarterback backs are there on a team? . . .

Although they are still playing without the benefit of a coach, due to football, the varsity basketball squad of State has scheduled a game this afternoon at 4:00 with the Navy team. The following team will start the game: Hammond and Sans, forwards; Bragg, center; Callum and Johnson, guards. There will be no admission to the game which will be held on the Salvation Army court.

Coach Dan Farmer and his manager have been preparing the schedule for the team all through the football season, and have already secured several games with most of the teams they played last year. At present negotiations are being made with Loyola University from Los Angeles, where basketball is just taking prominence as a major sport.

Tentative schedule facing the Gater squad is as follows: Mustangs from Cal. Aggies; University of Nevada; Chico State Wildcats; Humboldt State Mountaineers; S. F. Junior College Billygoats and the San Jose State Spartans.

JOE SANS GOOD

One of the most promising of the new players who has as yet come out for practice this season is Joe Sans, who averaged well over eighteen points per game during his high school career. In the scrimmage game last week with the Hayes Valley Athletic Club, the passing combination of Sans and Hammond looked better than any arrangement of players that took the floor last season. Also participating in the melee were Al Luntz, lanky center; Ken Johnson, veteran guard, and the aforementioned Billy Hammond, diminutive forward.

J. V. SCHEDULE

The basketball Jayvee team, under the wing of George Mirande, student coach, are planning an extensive schedule this year with several trips included. Among the teams the Junior Varsity squad will meet are: Sacred Heart High; Commerce High; The Jewish Community Center; The Olympic Club 145's; California 145's; U. S. F. Frosh; S. F. J. C. Jayvee's; Willits High; Ukiah High; Pittsburg High; Chinese Y. M. C. A., and other San Francisco high schools.

Most of the aforementioned games will be played as preliminary to the Varsity games with the Jayvee's and the Flying "A's" playing a double header when the Varsity hits the open road.

... Youse guys that are worrying about the expense attached to attending the social doings on the campus should just charge it to profit and "lass" and let it go at that . . .

Sigma Rho Gamma Inaugurates System of Evening Meetings

Members of Sigma Rho Gamma will inaugurate their new system of evening meetings next Monday evening at the Phi Lambda Chi House, 101 Buena Vista Ave. President Lillian Johnson states that the main reason for this change of system is to accommodate the alumni members who are working and hence unable to attend the usual noon meetings.

At the meeting Monday night, plans will be completed for the club's bridge party to be held November 12 at the home of Phyllis Southerd, 350 15th Ave. Every member is urged to be present at this first evening meeting of the semester and help in the planning for this card party.

Dean Homan Speaks To Alpha Mu Gamma Mon.

Dr. Homan, formerly of the University of Hawaii, and now of the psychology department at State college, spoke to members of Alpha Mu Gamma Monday at noon in the activities room. Dr. Homan's topic was "Languages in Hawaii."

Prior to his address, Dr. Homan gave a short history of the islands so as to better acquaint the group with the background of Hawaii. As to the languages, Dr. Homan stated that there were at least six various tongues spoken by natives. Among these are Japanese, Chinese, Portuguese, English, Filipino, and the dialect of the natives of the islands.

"The Hawaiian tongue is a beautiful language," said Dr. Homan, "because it contains approximately fifty per cent of vowels, all of which are pronounced. When one is staying in the islands, one picks up the language unknowingly, it is so easy to learn."

Before his talk, the members of Alpha Mu Gamma held a short business meeting, at which time it was decided to hold a supper meeting in the activities room on Monday evening, November 15, at 6 o'clock.

According to Bob Links, debate manager, these debates are the opening guns in a full season of meets, which will include a trip through the southern part of California in late November. Such colleges as U. C. L. A., U. C., Saint Marys, and Stanford are on the schedule, making this season a season of major activity for the debaters.
